What's On - Eden Court

01463 234 234

Friday 10 October

Tim Kliphuis - Grappelli Meets Celtic Folk
Dutchman Tim Kliphuis is widely regarded as the natural successor to Stéphane Grappelli; his unique style infusing Gypsy Swing with Folk and Classical music, and virtuoso playing with a great love for melody

Saturday 11 October

Cutlery Wars
An experimental and satirical comedy for children (and anyone who went to school)... The play was first performed at the Underbelly at the Edinburgh Fringe in 2006. It played to packed houses and received delightful, enthusiastic reviews

Saturday 11 October

Something Wicked This Way Comes
Adapting his own novel for the stage, the legendary Ray Bradbury has created a spine tingling battle between good and evil, packed with a terrifying collection of characters including the mysterious flying Dust Witch and the deadly Mr. Dark. A fantastic book and now a new show for everyone from nine and up, Something Wicked this Way Comes is a deliciously scary adventure about friendship & innocence and perfectly captures the wondrous belief we possess when we are fourteen.

Monday 13 October

Eddi Reader
Eddi Reader is an icon of Scottish music. Her rare blend of meltingly true vocals, towering romanticism and the ability to not just move the listener but to connect her experience to that of her audience makes her a unique and powerful figure in contemporary British music.
